

LADIES

Ladies exist within a strict hierarchy. (See ordered list below). The hierarchy does not follow any strict balance of intelligence or combat prowess, but instead seems to be enforced by the psionic abilities of the Thin Horse Ladies, likely with the help of the Competitive Bird Ladies.

Fearsome opponents, when armies of Ladies set out on campaign only the strongest and fiercest armies of men can stand in their way. Luckily for the world at large the Hierarchy of Ladies does not prize tactics or organizational ability.

Thin Horse Ladies are at the peak of the Ladies Hierarchy. These slender ladies are nearly always mounted atop slender horses (use war horse stats). If other Ladies are around they can use a withering stare attack to cower the other Ladies into doing their bidding. This stare can either work as a Charm spell, except the effect fades if the cowered Ladies move more than 12" away, or it can function like the Scare spell. In either case the effect only works on men and Ladies.

Big Cat ladies are the shock troops of the Ladies. They have fiercely long fingernails which they use to great effect in claw attacks. Almost always found in groups, they also have renowned treasure hoards. These are from their penchant for warring with any wealthy men that come into their territory.

Fat Horse Ladies, See Centaurs
